Memo

To: Fulmati Gurung, Office Manager
From: Neha Sharma, Administrative Officer
Date: February 14, 2018
Subject: Report on Time Management of Office Staff

As per the conclusion of our meeting on 20 February, I have gone through the complaints about the incoming of staff in general office. An interview was held with each of the 20 employees concerned. Their incoming time over two weeks were critically noted.

FindingsPrivate Transport

Four members were found to travel to work by private car. These employees were punctual and no problems were noted as such.

Public Transport

1. Eight members of staffs travel to work on public transport, using the public bus from their residence. These staff were often up to 15 minute late, arriving at work around 9:15 a. m.
2. The public bus should stop outside the office at 8:55 a.m. but it was quite unreliable in this respect. Its arrival varied from 9: 00 to 9:10 a.m. The previous public bus used to reach outside the office between 8: 30 to 8:40 a.m. However, due to the limited number of buses, it is not possible now.

Conclusions

The staff relying on public transport cannot be blamed for the late arrival of the public bus from their residence as the number of public buses has been reduced in town. They also cannot be expected to arrive 30 minutes early each day to avoid being a few minutes late for work. However, changes in the office routine could help to avoid and avert the problem.

Recommendations

The staff who use public transport should be given the option of starting work at 8:40 and finishing 15 minutes earlier than usual

I hope you find the report satisfactory. If you have any questions please let me know.

Memo

From : Bijaya Kumar, Marketing Officer

To: Ms. Sony Sharma, CEO, Dynamic Electrics Ltd.

Date: May 17, 2017

Subject: Report on Customer Complaints

In response to your request on 28 August, I have examined the large number of customer complaints we have recently received about our Compact Electric Hair Drier. In all, there were 779 letters or postcards.

Clarifies who requested the report and when it was requested.

Findings: Each piece of messages was classified according to the reported problem(s). In all, there were three major complaint areas:

The complaints are categorically highlighted.

- i. Product Quality: The major problem is product quality. Two-thirds (522) of the letters reported that the product's quality is poor. Some buyers reported that the product takes much time to get charged.
- ii. Refunds: The second most commonly cited complaint is that it is difficult to obtain a sale refund. Thirty-nine percent (306) of the letters were from customers who were unable to obtain a refund from the retailer. The retailers claim that we do not pay back them for damaged products, so they refuse to refund the sale price.
- iii. Price: The third most commonly cited complaint is that the price is too high. This was a primary complaint from 4 percent (28) of the customers. When combined one or both of the above complaints, price was mentioned by 25 percent (169) of the customers.

Highlights some possible solutions adding three different steps. Here $2+2=4$ model is highlighted by adding problems and solutions effectively and convincingly.

Recommendations

Based on the findings, we need to take these steps.

- i. Create a team of engineers, product design personnel, and manufacturing people to examine a sample of the product. The group should investigate how production cost can be reduced.
- ii. Send a letter to the retailers selling our product to inform them that we will replace or repurchase all the damaged items.
- iii. Have all the marketing people review our price vis-a-vis competition.

I will be happy to discuss these ideas with you. Also, if you decide to implement recommendations, I will be ready to help and support you.

The writer is very cooperative and supportive to solve the problems. It shows effective internal communication in the company.

Progress Business Report

It is a report that you have to write to inform about the progress you are making on your work. In business, progress report is often written to supervisor/manager by employees. It can be in the form of:

- Business letter
- Memos
- Separate reports with cover letter.

Memo

To: Geeta Singh, Supervisor

From: Deepu K.C, Office Manager

Date: August 18, 2017

Subject: Update on Office Reorganization Project

I have made significant progress in reorganizing the front office. All receipts of bills paid prior to 2015 have been destroyed. I am currently cleaning out the customer files. This particular task has taken longer than expected as the latest documents were often located within the file rather than on top. Our office volunteer has begun sorting the supply cabinet. She comes twice a week, so this task will be completed by the end of the summer.

I expect the entire reorganization to be completed by the end of September. At this time, the new filing system will be specifically outlined so that all office workers and volunteers are able to maintain it properly.

If you have any question, please do let me know.

Business Proposals

A business proposal is an essential marketing document that helps to cultivate an initial professional relationship between an organization and a donor over a project to be implemented. The proposal outlines the plan of the implementing organization about the project, giving extensive information about the intention, for implementing it, the ways to manage it and the results to be delivered from it. It is also known as a written offer from a seller to a prospective buyer. The business proposal puts the buyers' requirements in a context that favors the sellers' products and services, and educates the buyer about the capabilities of the seller in satisfying their needs. Business proposals are mainly written:

- to get the project accepted
- to get the writer of the proposal accepted to do the job

Essentials for Good Proposals

- Defining Problems
- Solution to the problems
- What will you provide?
- Delivering your promise
- Benefits offered
- Deadline
- Cost

 KMC-12 New Baneswor
 Kathmandu, Nepal

Dear Sharma:

Thank you for considering Communication Training Group for your training needs. Based on our conversation last Friday, I am pleased to propose this preliminary outline of the customer service workshop, and to suggest ways to maximize your return on investment.

Workshop Overview

The Two-day Customer Service Strategies Workshop encourages participants to define and refine the criteria for superior customer service. During the workshop, participants will:

- Role-Play
- Involve in active listening
- Analyze and identify excellent customer service attitudes and behavior
- Identify and apply conflict negotiating models
- Set a goal for further development

Depending on participants' preference, we can begin at 8 or 9 a.m., and finish at 4 or 5 p.m., attached is a proposed agenda for your approval.

Methods

Using a variety for interactive services-including case analysis, taped role play, peer feedback, and self-assessment, your employees will review, describe and apply behaviors to build customer relationships. I would like to visit your location for a few hours to observe your training representatives and customize the content according to it. This complimentary needs assessment will also allow me to gather information about current practices; and see your training facilities.

Resources

The participants will need flexible time during the workshop. As people will be working together and moving around, they will need group seating, 4 to a table, and enough room to comfortably accommodate 16 people. We will also need a projector, and screen; participants will need writing material, a USB key and one flip chart per table. We will bring our own camera and laptops.

Qualifications

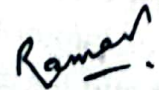

Our facilitators offer over 20 years of training experience, and expertise and official recognition in adult education principles, business and interpersonal communication skills. I have attached client reviews for our most training workshops. You can also visit our website www.communicationtraininggroup.com

Costs

The needs assessment is free. The cost for training, including customized content, material, exercise, interactive facilitation, evaluation, summary and recommendations specific to your organization is Rs. 6,000. Once again thank you for your interest and consideration. At your convenience please call me or email me about your proposed employee training.

Sincerely,

Raman Neupane

Formal Business Report

A business report is a written document that provides information, and sometimes analysis, to assist a business in making informed decisions. Formal report is usually written after detailed investigation or research. The ultimate purpose of any report is to provide the foundation for decisions to be made and action taken. In business, the information provided in reports needs to be easy to find, and written in such a way that the client can understand it easily. This is one reason why reports are divided into sections clearly maintained with headings and sub-headings. Technical information of the report is generally placed in the appendix. The structure of a report and the purpose and contents of each section is shown below.
